

Defining our Charter Words

Confident

Motivated

Respected

Safe

What do these words mean and how can we have a school where students feel confident, motivated, respected and safe?

What does it mean to feel confident?

When people are confident they are sure of themselves and their abilities - not in an arrogant or superior way. Confident people are secure and have an inner knowledge that they are capable. Students will also feel like they can accomplish anything.

What does it look like or sound like when students feel confident?

When a student is confident they look happy and may just want to shout and scream that they got it correct or just because they finished something before everyone else.

What does it mean to feel motivated?

When people are motivated, they have a strong desire to work hard, do well and succeed.

What does it look like or sound like when students feel motivated?

When a person is motivated it means that they want to work hard to be successful and want to be the best.

What does it mean to feel respected?

People who feel respected feel that others appreciate them, relate to them, admire them and care about them.

What does it look like or sound like when students feel respected?

Being respected means that you are treating others the way you want to be treated

What does it mean to feel safe?

People who feel safe feel that they are secure from harm or danger.
